01 Overview

KOICA Capacity Building Program for Professional Human Resources

- The KOICA Capacity Building Program for Professional Human Resources, organized by the Korea International Cooperation Agency (KOICA), is designed to foster R&D professionals who meet the industrial needs of developing countries, targeting partner countries designated by the OECD Development Assistance Committee (DAC).
- In the case of Chosun University, a Master's degree program in Mechanical Engineering within the manufacturing industry is offered. The program provides an integrated curriculum including graduate-level education, field training, and Korean language instruction, while also covering essential expenses such as tuition, dormitory fees, airfare, and living expenses throughout the training period.

- 1. Eligible Nationalities: Applicants must hold one of the following nationalities (priority will be given to Vietnam, Uzbekistan, Egypt, and Cambodia)
- Nepal, Mongolia, Myanmar, Bangladesh, Vietnam, Sri Lanka, Uzbekistan, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Cambodia, Pakistan, Philippines

2. Admission Process

3. Degree Completion Guidelines

- During the 30-month training period, Korean language courses and an internship program will be provided, and all participants are required to complete these programs within the designated period
- The detailed schedule may be subject to change depending on the student's academic performance as well as the circumstances of the university and KOICA
- Failure to meet academic standards, violation of regulations, or non-completion of the above guidelines may result in suspension of support or disqualification from the program

- ※ Applicants who hold TOPIK (Test of Proficiency in Korean) Level 4 or higher are exempt from the Korean language program
- ※ For the non-thesis track, students must complete the regular 4 semesters (24 credits) and an additional semester (9 credits) within the maximum period of study [A total of at least 33 credits is required]

4. Scholarship Benefits

- : The scholarship covers round-trip airfare for entry and departure, tuition for the Master's degree program, Korean language training fees, dormitory fees (including during the internship period), field study expenses, monthly living expenses (including during the internship period), settlement and return support grants, and National Health Insurance premiums for international students, all within the scope of support provided by KOICA

13 Important Notes ★★★★★

! Application Guidelines

- 01 Complete all required information online and submit physical documents by mail or in person before the application deadline
- 02 Verify eligibility, chosen department(Master' s) and dormitory preference accurately; changes are not allowed after the deadline (changes in the applied department are allowed during the application period)
- 03 Consult with the advisor to accurately fill in the department name and course (master's)
- 04 If applying for multiple programs within the same application period, only the last application will be considered; all others will be canceled
- 05 Provide personal email and phone number; any misinformation or using others' information will be the applicant's responsibility
- 06 Scan and upload the original Korean/English document (other languages must be translated and notarized in Korean) when submitting online. Mail or visit to submit physical documents, including the online application
- 07 Failure to submit required documents within the specified period after completing online application results in disqualification
- 08 If submitting a copy, the original document must be submitted within the deadline; any discrepancies may lead to disadvantages
- 09 Inquiries about confirmation of mailed documents arrival are not accepted
- 10 Language scores are valid only until the application period (tests without a specified validity period are considered valid for 2 years from the test date)
- 11 Applicants who submitted a graduation certificate at the time of application (graduates of domestic universities) must submit the original degree or graduation certificate to the Office of International Cooperation by August 21, 2026; failure to do so will result in admission cancellation

! Notes for Applicants

- 01 If an expected graduate fails to obtain the specified degree before the admission date, admission will be denied
- 02 If an expected graduate is accepted, the original final graduation certificate (apostille/consular confirmation required) must be submitted; failure to submit will result in admission cancellation
- 03 Failure to submit all required application documents (including language proficiency scores) within the deadline results in disqualification
- 04 Submission of false documents, false information, or confirmation of insufficient academic qualifications (unauthorized universities in the respective country) leads to disqualification and admission cancellation
- 05 Additional documents may be requested during the evaluation process; failure to submit mandatory documents leads to disqualification
- 06 If there is a discrepancy between the documents and the information obtained through academic verification, admission cancellation may occur, and no final document supplementation is allowed
- 07 Documents written in languages other than Korean or English must be accompanied by a notarized translation(original)
- 08 Information related to apostille/consular confirmation/academic network certification, etc., must be verified with the relevant institution before preparing application documents
- 09 All submitted documents will not be returned, so applicants should prepare additional documents for future visa application
- 10 For graduates of Overseas universities, the "Academic Verification Inquiry Form (Attachment#3)" should be verified by the responsible person at the university (or graduate school); not required for graduates of Korean universities
- 11 Submit documents after obtaining approval from the advisor and include the advisor's opinion. If no advisor is selected, the advisor's opinion is not required. However, admission is canceled if no advisor is ultimately selected
- 12 The 'Standard Admission Letter' will be sent by email to the final KOICA-selected candidates
- 13 Even if a standard admission permit is issued by the university, if the applicant does not obtain a student visa or does not extend/change the visa for the relevant country at the Korean embassy (consulate) or domestic immigration office within the specified period, admission will be canceled
- 14 Matters not specified in the recruitment guidelines will apply the university's academic regulations; other matters will be determined by the university's graduate committee and the International affairs team
- 15 These recruitment guidelines are written in Korean and English; in case of interpretation differences, the content written in Korean will be the standard
